From Hon. W. H. Jones, of West
Dover, Vermont.

"I have been troubled from my boyhood
with chronic or hereditary lung complaint.
Some years since, early in the winter, I took cold, which as usual settled into a severe cough, which continued to increase as the season advanced, although I made use of all the cough remedies I had knowledge of. My family physician also prescribed for me, but I felt no relief. During all this time I was gradually running down, losing flesh and strength, until my friends as well as myself, became very much alarmed, thinking I should waste away
in consumption. While in Boston, during the spring following, I was induced
to try WISTAR'S BALM OF WILD CHERRY.
After one day's trial I was sensible that it was relieving me; in ten days time my cough had entirely ceased, and I was soon restored to my health and strength. I have ever since kept the BALM in my house, and whenever any member of my family has a cough or cold, it is immediately resorted to. No family should be without it." Sold by all druggists.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine, often intermingled in a single day—it is no wonder that our children,
friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause.
A bottle of Boschnie's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill and, perhaps, death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you.
German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial 10 cents; regular size, 75 cents.

Coming to Oregon.

The afflicted will be glad to learn that a corps of Surgeons from the National Surgical Institute, fitted out with a complete assortment of apparatus for the treatment of every human deformity, will again visit Portland, Oregon, at the St. Charles Hotel
from June 25th to July 1st, inclusive.
1878. This Institution, originally founded at Indianapolis, Indiana, has extended its business throughout the United States and has attained a reputation for the successful treatment of Spinal Curvature, Hip
and Knee Joint Diseases, Club Feet, Paralysis, Piles and Fistula, heretofore unknown to the profession. References of the highest order can be given.

PEACE PROCLAIMED.—After ten years of active warfare I have been at war with my customers for ten long years, and I am now ready to DYE FOR THEM at reduced rates. Gents' clothes cleaned and repaired; faded curtains and clothing restored and made to appear as good as when new. Customers abroad will not have reason to grumble at prices if they send their articles to T. W. Pierre, tailor and dyer, Yates street, opp. Alhambra Hall. Castoff clothing taken in exchange for work.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. Cool calls attention to the beautiful aluminium-lined vulcanite plates for upper and lower sets. The advantage of this work is that it is very thin,
much stronger and lighter than the common plate usually worn; also, being a better conductor of heat and cold, it does not produce the irritation, sometimes caused by rubber or non-conducting substances. I make these sets for $35, something never before done, and guarantee my patrons that after once wearing one of them they will wear no other. The treatment of diseased teeth and eye operating I make a specialty. Teeth built up with gold and to their natural contour; artificial crowns adjusted to roots in the best manner. Work of every description done anywhere I engage to do at the most reasonable prices.

The Machine was Worn Out.

Why? Not because it was not well built, but it was wrongly run. Thousands of men who have run down long before their three-score and ten years are accomplished,
might have been renewed into sprightly
men and vim if they had tried the well-known PERUVIAN SYRUP, which contains among its compounds the Protocole of Iron, so combined that it assimilates with the blood and invigorates the whole system. This syrup has proved efficacious in thousands of cases, and will do everybody
good who uses it. All druggists keep it.

OLD CHICORY is almost a thing of the past. Finlayson's Coffee presides over the present. It has now superseded what used to be claimed as "superior to any other manufactured on this coast," and will soon be found on every well-furnished table in the Province. Prepared at his premises on Port Street, and sold by all the principal dealers.

THE LATEST.—The undersigned received by City of Panama, a choice lot of Ladies' Costumes, Children's Dresses, Summer Dress Gowns, Trimmings, Lace Handkerchiefs, Ties, Sets, etc., etc.—SHEARS & PARTIDGE, London House.

Herefore you have been unable to wear a set of artificial teeth call on Dr.
Cool. He will guarantee all his work.

THE ISLAND RAILWAY—HOW TO GET IT.

If a settlement of the railway misunderstanding can be obtained on a basis that will observe the spirit of the Carnarvon terms, we imagine that few persons will care much about the letter of that treaty. If, instead of the Island railway being built by the Dominion Government it can be built, equipped, and run with Dominion Government money by a private company, we do not think that any very serious objection would be urged here to the arrangement. If, in place of the Dominion Government passing a Bill to secure the construction of the road as a Dominion Government work it were to obtain authority from the Ottawa Parliament to pay to this Province a sum of money sufficient in amount to secure its construction by a private company, we feel confident that nine out of every ten men in the country would favor the adoption of such a scheme. Hair-splitters—cantankerous men who profess to be "spilled for a fight"—would raise their voices in opposition to any settlement that would tend to compose the misunderstanding between the Dominion and Columbia; but their voices would be drowned in the loud shouts of acclaim that would arise on all sides. For our part, we don't care in what way the Carnarvon terms may be carried out, so long as they are carried out in effect. We do not believe the Island Railway Bill could be re-introduced into the Dominion Parliament with a reasonable show of success; but we do think that any well-considered scheme for the granting of a money subsidy to build a line of railway from Esquimalt to Nanaimo would be passed by that Parliament. The Dominion Government offered the Province the sum of $750,000 cash in lieu of the Island road. The Colonist was the first journal in British Columbia to declare that that offer was too insignificant to be entertained; and that no sum that would be insufficient to insure the construction of the railway could or would be accepted. We accepted the principle of compensation from the first. Lord Carnarvon in his dispatch written fifteen months later urged the Province to admit that principle. We do not hesitate to repeat what we have often asserted that this is the only basis on which the difficulty can be settled: The main line, and a sum of money that will build, equip and run the Island railway,—the amount necessary to effect the object to be determined by Majesty's Principal Secretary for the Colonies. That is the way in which to present the case so as to enlist the sympathy and support of every member of the new House. At this moment one-half the Province is pulling in a direction opposite to that in which the other half is pulling. The two halves remind us of the famous Siamese twins—Chang and Eng. When they quarrelled they tried to walk away from each other, and, consequently, stood stock still. When their minds were in perfect accord they moved along pleasantly in company. We want to see this whole Province move as one man towards the accomplishment of a common object—and small and weak as we may be that object will be attained. Now, then, how can this people be brought to act upon a common impulse? By the Government approaching the consideration of the grave matters involved in a spirit of dignity, moderation and good sense that would well become a party so strong that it can afford to do right. It is the duty of the press on both sides to urge the adoption of a policy of unification by the Government. No true friend either of Government or people would counsel a different course. We are sorry to observe that the Standard, which appears to take a peculiar delight in unduly exciting the popular mind on this and kindred topics, is violently opposed to any compromise whatsoever. In the leading article of yesterday it says:—"It would be just as easy for the Government of the Dominion to equip the Island line, as to give the Province the money to do it, but their doing so would help to ratify the Carnarvon Terms, which is what they wish to avoid. We are persuaded that the true welfare of the Province consists in preserving the integrity of the Carnarvon Terms and rejecting all idea of further compromise." This extract is pure claptrap, and perfectly nonsensical to boot. Canada owes British Columbia a railway from Esquimalt to Nanaimo; and it is not to be allowed to pay to British Columbia, or to promote company by way of compensation, a sum of money sufficient to build the line. We have no desire to see the Province "humbly beg" the Mackenzie government for anything; but we do earnestly wish to see the Province adopt a sensible and patriotic course in place of the ridiculous position the Standard tried to force it into in 1876, when Lord Dufferin was here, viz: to demand that the railway should come via Bute Inlet to Esquimalt or the Province would secede. By the way, referring to files of 1876 we make an important discovery. We find that the position we take now was then assumed by the Standard, the Standard which is hoarsely shouting no compromise and threatening unpleasant consequences if the Carnarvon terms be not carried out in letter as well as spirit. We quote from our contemporary of September 22d, 1876:

"We all know that if the Dominion Government once undertook to build it, (the Nanaimo-Esquimalt road) in good earnest it would soon be in running order. If, however, a political exigency in the opinion of the people at the helm of State prevents them building it as a Dominion public work, then by all means let us have it constructed by the Provincial Government or a company. It is the road we want, no matter who may build, own and operate it. In expressing our willingness, however, to see the railway constructed either by Provincial or private enterprise, we are to be understood as expecting that such subsidy in money, lands, or guarantees of interests will be given as will enable the Province or company to build and operate it successfully."

It is the Island road we want, "no matter who may build, own and operate it;" and the surest way to enlist the support and sympathy of the people of both sections is to adopt a policy and pursue a course that both will approve of. All we ask of our contemporary is to stick to the proposal we laid down in the above extract and he will shortly enjoy the exquisite pleasure of having all rail communication from Victoria to Nanaimo.

THE CITY WATER.

The water supplied the City is of the foulest description. It contains decayed vegetable matter which may be seen by holding a glass of the water up to the light, and a nondescript transparent living object, all tail, head and eyes that may be discerned swimming about in the murky liquid with the aid of a glass. Surely, this should not be. The City has paid about $200,000 for a water privilege and gets a liquid the consistency of pea-soup. The trouble is said to be at the fountain head; the filters are reported to be defective. No doubt they are; but if the water were reasonably pure, the slight filtration it receives would be sufficient to prevent foreign bodies from entering the pipes and thence the stomachs of citizens. We begin to fear, notwithstanding all the expense that has attended the erection of the works, that the water itself is too impure for domestic use, and that before long another and better source of supply will have to be sought. Every day the danger is growing, because the interior of the pipes are choking with slime, amongst which the nondescript objects alluded to reproduce themselves with frightful rapidity.

THE FISHERIES AWARD PAID.

After scenes of unseemly wrangling, which were anything but creditable to Congress, the U. S. Government have been authorized, by a direct vote of the House, to pay the five millions and a half dollars awarded Canada by the Halifax arbitration. The contention of a minority of the members of Congress was that because the award was not the unanimous finding of the Commission (the American Commissioner having dissented to the finding) it was not binding. The law advisers of the Government, however, blew that contention to the four winds, and there-fore the opposition was confined to a few fretters who profess to believe that the United States should finally settle the fisheries and several other international questions by gobbling up Canada. The national honor of the Republic has been seriously compromised by the spirit in which the matter has been dealt with by its public men; and it is gratifying to find that reason and justice have triumphed after a hot contest with demagogism. The money is paid for the enjoyment of a twelve years' use of the eastern maritime fisheries, five years of which have already expired; so that in 1883 another treaty affecting the same privileges will have to be framed, when the right of British Columbia to be admitted to its benefits may be advanced.

THE INTERNATIONAL BOAT RACE.

How the World's Champion Came in Winner.

(Toronto Globe's Dispatch.)
PITTSBURG, June 20.

After a great deal of trouble about a boat to carry the judges and referee, Mr. Davis, Hanlan's judge, succeeded in chartering the big side-wheel steamer Jack Gumbert, the captain of which, P. Rhodes, was the only master who could be induced to undertake the service. As this boat was too large to run down the course with the men, the river being here only about two hundred yards wide, it was decided to send her down with the judges and a few friends of the men, and to have the referee pull a shell over the upper portion of the course. Colonel Shaw, Pat Luther, and a few more friends of Hanlan occupied the judges' boat, which also carried a large number of Pittsburgers. Everything being in readiness, the men were started at six o'clock, Hanlan jumping away with a lead of half a length, and pulling 36 strokes per minute. Morris meant business, and followed closely, pulling a slightly quicker stroke. Hanlan steadily drew away from the big fellow, however, and by the time a mile was completed he was ahead by three lengths. Morris now began to realize the sort of man he had to deal with, and followed round the big bend, pulling 29 strokes a minute in the swift water off Powers' Run, and 38 as he dropped into the slower current below it. All this while Hanlan was steadily widening the gap at an unvarying thirty-six per minute stroke. As they passed the Jack Gumbert, a quarter of a mile from the turning buoys, Hanlan was pulling a beautiful stroke, and looking as cool and fresh as if he had been taking his regular afternoon paddle. "Pshaw," said Pat Luther, "Morris is no more than a baby with that man. He's a better man than George Brown ever was. He's the coolest man I ever saw pull a race."

At the stake boat Hanlan turned with a good four lengths the best of it, and it was apparent that Morris had shot his bolt, from the fact that as they repassed the Gumbert Hanlan was leading by nearly seven lengths, and taking it easy, while Morris had his teeth set and was pulling as if for his life.

At Powers' run, a mile and a third from the finish, Hanlan led by more than eight lengths, but as he struck the swift water the Pittsburgers closed upon him so rapidly that his friends began to cheer lustily. As soon, however, as Morris struck the swift water he ceased to close up, and as Hanlan saw that he had his man beaten he took it very easily, only pulling about twenty-nine strokes to the minute, and frequently exchanging a friendly greeting with friends whom he happened to recognize on the bank. He even stopped two or three times to rest on his oars and wait for the big fellow, who occasionally spirted to thirty-six per minute; but it was now apparent to the most obstinate supporters of Morris that the races were practically over. The Pittsburgers were evidently distressed, while Hanlan was looking as fresh and smiling as though it was only play for him. At the end of four miles he was leading by four lengths, and for the last mile he only pulled twenty-eight strokes to the minute and even then he only allowed his opponent to close one length on him, for he finally passed his stake boat with three full lengths to the good. Official time 37 minutes. Some outside timers made it 36:30, but considering the stage of water at which the race was pulled, the time as officially announced is extremely fast—at least so it is considered here.

B. C. M. & Co.'s Stock.

At noon to-day the delinquent shares of this Company will be offered for sale at public auction. It may not be amiss to look into the status of the company which has 1500 feet on the Wilkinson lode, 3,000 feet on the Bonanza lode and 1,500 feet on the Steadman lode. Their mill is being erected within an easy distance of all these ledges. The sum of $75,000 has been expended by the Company in machinery now on the ground. They have allotted 152,000 shares of stock of which number 65,000 or 70,000 shares will be offered and disposed of to-day, for non-payment of assessments. Should these shares fetch 50 cents each, they will only then set at the cash price of the machinery on the ground, leaving nothing whatever for the mines. It is understood that $20,000 will be required to complete the erection of the mill and purchase the supplies necessary to keep the mill running until next Spring's teams can reach the mines. This estimate includes firewood and all the extras necessary. If the shares to be offered to-day are bought by parties who can pay assessments for two months, there will be no need of further assessment—at least until next Spring, at which date the value of the mines will be known. We urge the completion of this mill as soon as possible as the only practical means of testing the mines. It is the duty of every one having an interest in the development of an industry that affects the future welfare of the country to bear a hand by purchasing off as many shares of this stock as he can conveniently. The shares will be put in lots of 50 with the privilege of 1,000, sale being imperative. It is worthy of remark that of 215 shareholders in the B. C. Co. only six or eight are delinquent.

THE AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS IN ENGLAND.

A London dispatch says:—An enormous crowd was attracted to the Oval to witness the second match which the Australian cricket team have played in the metropolis. The Surrey men having won the toss, went first to the wickets and scored 107 in their first innings. At a few minutes after three in the afternoon the Australians began to play, and in a little more than three hours closed their first innings for 110. On the second day Surrey scored only 80, and the Australians won with five wickets to spare. The Australians, so far, have won all their contests.

THE KOOTENAY SCANDAL.

Sitting of the Royal Commission.

The Royal Commission, consisting of Chief Justice Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie, Mr. Justice Crease and Mr. Justice Gray, appointed to enquire into the truth of the allegations of corruption made by the members for Kootenay against the Hon. Mr. Elliott, resumed its sitting yesterday, (having been adjourned since April 16th). Mr. G. A. Kelly, late constable at Kootenay, was present and was placed in the witness-box.

Mr. Kelly, before being sworn, applied that his expenses might be paid. He had not been summoned, but had considered that it would not be right of him to leave the country, as he was about to do, after he had received the letter from the secretary of the commission.

The Chief Justice said that Mr. Kelly was in a more favorable position than he thought, for the Royal Commission had decided to summons him to appear, and he might therefore rest certain that his reasonable expenses would be paid.

Mr. Kelly was then sworn and said that in the spring of 1876 he was introduced to Mr. Gallagher, member for Kootenay, at the Victoria; they were talking of the class of electors at Kootenay and he (Gallagher) said a great number of them were Irish. Witness asked Gallagher if he (Kelly) was in Kootenay what chance he would have of being elected? He told him that the constableness of Kootenay was a very good thing and that there was nothing to do. Mr. Gallagher said that was the reason it was a good thing and if he was not situated as he was he would like to get it himself. Supposed that he meant if he were not a member of Parliament he would like to be a constable.

The Chief Justice—If he were not Alexander he would like to be Diogenes. (Laughter.)

Witness—I met Mr. Humphreys on Government street and he told me that he had mentioned my application to Mr. Elliott for the constableness and that it was all right. I thought if I went to Kootenay I should eventually run for the district and have a good chance of getting elected. I got the appointment and arrived at Kootenay on the 31st of July, 1876. I found that amongst the population there was a number of Irish and there was little or nothing to do.

The Chief Justice—That is most unusual. When Irishmen get together they generally give somebody something to do.

Witness—I saw a letter from Mr. Elliott to me stating that Daerac had informed him (Mr. E.) that Gallagher wished to resign and get the constableness. He (Mr. Elliott) said, "I will not interfere at all in the matter," adding, "I have no objection to oblige Gallagher, who, I understand, is a very poor man." After that I saw Gallagher when he was employed on the Mission farm cutting down wheat. Father Fouquet keeps the Mission. I said to Gallagher when I met him in the woods alone, "I am told you wish to resign to get the constableness." He said, "Oh, no!" I replied, "Well, I am very anxious to get into Parliament, and if you resign I will give you $1,000 in cash." I knew that Gallagher was a poor man. I said, "If I get elected I intend to support the Elliott Administration, and I shall use any influence I may have for your promotion. If you don't want the position—you pretend to be a great friend of mine—you need not say anything about it and no one will be a bit the wiser." He shook his head, and after some time said: "No, I don't think I could take the position." That was all we said on the subject. I never had any instructions from Mr. Elliott in any shape or form any other person to make Mr. Gallagher any offer or proposal. I never mentioned anything about the best situation within the gift of the Government.

The Chief Justice—Perhaps you reserved that for yourself. It's only natural if you did—keeping of course the next best position for your friend.

Witness—When I got back to town (Wild Horse Creek) Daerac told me Gallagher was a fool. He would not resign, and there was no good talking to him about it. I saw that Daerac understood the nature of my conversation with Gallagher. I had a conversation with Father Fouquet on the matter and he said it was very wrong of me to offer Mr. Gallagher any money and that he had advised him not to take it; but that he had told him to take the constableness if he could get it. I knew Father Fouquet had received a letter from Mr. Elliott, but he did not tell me so. I knew Mr. Elliott had written to him about land and other things of an official nature. I saw the outside of the letter when Daerac had it and knew that the address was in Mr. Elliott's handwriting. I was aware that Father Fouquet had written to the Ministry because he could not get some land matters properly settled at the Kootenay agency. After my short conversation with Daerac, who told me Gallagher was a fool, I knew that I could not get him to resign. I think Mr. J. Galbraith asked me if I had offered Gallagher $1,000, and I said: "Yes, I did." He said: "Aren't you afraid of doing that?" I took it that he meant are you not afraid of opposing the Galbraith clique. In Kootenay Mr. Gallagher has only some five or six supporters. I could have been elected if Gallagher had resigned, that is if his friends supported me and thus prevented the Galbraiths from running the District. I knew that if Gallagher resigned and I ran in his stead with his support I would get five or six Irish votes.

Mr. Gallagher—Is the gentleman on oath?

The Chief Justice—The gentleman is on oath.

The Witness—All the people in Kootenay by which Gallagher was a fool, except a bar-tender in Daerac's saloon, who was a very patriotic Irishman and one of Gallagher's five solid men. Kootenay is the rottenest borough on the face of the earth; there is nothing in England half as insignificant as Kootenay. Your Lordships will be perfectly astonished when you hear the evidence of another witness or two about the bribery and corruption in Kootenay. The candidates bought votes for beef and whiskey, and the man who could put up the most beef and whiskey gave the greatest number of clean receipts for old debts got elected. Every man in the district acknowledged that overtures had been made to him by candidates. You would be surprised if you knew of the corruption that is going on. It is well known that five or six of the men who vote there regularly are not British subjects at all and have never taken out their papers in the Supreme Court. They take a kind of an oath before a magistrate's court just previous to an election and everybody knows what it is for.

The Chief Justice—And they elect representatives who come here and tax honest men; and those taxes we pay gentlemen.

Cross-examined by Mr. Gallagher—I never told you I had the privilege of giving the constableness to anybody. I thought proper. I recollect your coming to me and I told you you could get the constableness if you resigned. You told me just before the election that Galbraith had offered to give you a written guarantee to support Mr. Walkem if you and Paddy Quirk would vote for him. I told you that if you would take my advice you would support the Elliott Ministry as there was no doubt Galbraith intended to betray the constituency. I know that you always said you could not accept the constableness except when you told me that if you were not fixed as you were you would like the position as there was nothing to do. I heard that in the event of Walkem's advent to power you expected or hoped to get the position of stipendiary magistrate. I know that you could not get re-elected without the assistance of the Galbraith faction. You only had six friends in the constituency that I know of and their names are Peter McQuade, Jimmy Morrissey, Jack Murphy, John Russell, Larry Mangin, and Charles Gallagher. I never said that if I was elected I would get the Provincial Secretaryship; but I said that I was vacant and that I would have my chance with the rest of the members for it. I only said so as an additional inducement to get you to resign. I never told any person that I would give $500 if I got the Provincial Secretaryship—yes, I do remember telling Father Fouquet that it was just within the range of possibility that if elected I might get the Provincial Secretaryship and if so I would be rich enough to give him a subscription to aid the school house. Father Fouquet said I must not talk to him about money; but I don't think he was really offended because I had previously given him $70 in aid of the school house. He didn't like that I should insinuate that if I had his influence I would subscribe more. I do remember you telling me that there was a voter in Kootenay the Dominion of Canada could not buy. It is the general impression in Kootenay that you are bought body and soul by George Anthony Walkem. When you said there was a man in Kootenay the Dominion of Canada could not buy you pointed to yourself; but I could not believe that such was the case.

To the Court—I never received any letter from Mr. Elliott with reference to the constableness except that one I have alluded to. I was not invited by Mr. Elliott to come here from San Francisco; I came entirely on my own account. Wait till your Lordships hear Father Fouquet's evidence; I can assure you it will astonish the whole Province.

This concluded the examination of the witness, and the Court adjourned.

Municipal Police Court.

(Before H. C. Courtney, Esq.)

FRIDAY, July 5th.

Thomas Stark, charged on suspicion with having stolen a gold watch and chain and $80 from Mr. King of the Mousquetaires saloon.

Joseph King, being sworn, identified the watch and chain as belonging to him; did not see the watch and chain from 6:30 p. m. on the 24th June till the 28th June, when the officers brought the prisoner into the saloon, and he then told witness where he had hidden the watch, and said it was on the Esquimalt road. He said he was drunk or he would not have taken it; he did not say anything about the money; prisoner staid at the saloon and knew the run of the house.

Sergeant Bloomfield deposed that on 27th June he went into the Mousquetaires to make some inquiry about the loss of the watch and chain; saw Stark there; he called witness and told him he wanted to speak to him, went into the back room; prisoner said four men had the property and were prepared to go over the sound in a canoe; prisoner refused to give any information as to the men; shortly after 9 o'clock met the prisoner, but he said it was too late, that the men had left in the canoe. Arrested the prisoner in the presence of Mr. King, on suspicion; About 9:30 p. m. on 23rd witness took prisoner from the gaol and with another officer went to the back of the Mousquetaires; felt under the bottom of an old house, but not finding it, witness searched and found the watch and chain wrapped up in an old sock.

The prisoner pleaded guilty and said he was under the influence of liquor during the time.

His Honor then committed the prisoner for trial.

Three Chinamen, charged with having neglected to abate a nuisance after having received due notice, were remanded till Monday next.

Two Spanish Indians, found in the possession of fresh deer skins within the precincts of Victoria City, were fined $10 each.

James Houlihan, charged with shooting at Michael Finerty on the morning of the 21st with intent.

Mr. Mills appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Robertson for the defence.

Michael Finerty being sworn, said, in answer to Mr. Mills, that about 7 a. m. on the 21st of June he was going with a span of horses and wagon out to his property near the Gordon Head road; the property is called "The Spring Park Farm." Witness was just going into the bush, when he noticed his mare looking to the right hand side, in consequence of this immediately looked back and saw James Houlihan walking to the right hand side of the hind wheel of the wagon, pointing a pistol at him; the prisoner fired; witness sprang to one side of the wagon to get out of the way, prisoner fired a second shot almost immediately; the shots did not strike witness. At the firing witness' horses got frightened, and he jumped off the wagon between the horses and wagon on the right hand side, the same side as the defendant; ran in at Houlihan who struck him on the head a blow with the stick produced, and also kicked him on the right thigh; witness struck him with his head on the chest and knocked him down; the pistol was then in his hand and he pointed it at witness' face, wrenched the stick from the prisoner and struck him across the wrist with it, causing him to drop the revolver; identified the pistol produced as the one the prisoner fired. There are five chambers in the said pistol, three of which are now loaded. After the pistol had dropped from Houlihan's hand, witness struck him on the head, but in doing so slipped and fell on his knee; Houlihan then bit him on the shoulder; witness' coat was in the wagon. The straw hat produced witness had on at the time of the firing. After Houlihan bit him on the shoulder witness gave him a good thrashing with the above mentioned stick. Did not like to kill the man out and out, though he deserved it very much; so then went and picked up the revolver and defendant's hat, which, by mistake he put on in the place of his own, which was on the ground; also picked up the stick and put it on the wagon, came out of the bush, and on the way home called at Mr. Harris'. Examined the revolver and found it was the property of Mr. Harris', where he went to get the bleeding from the cut on his head stopped. The defendant came into Harris' yard, and witness went into the house to avoid having another row. Did not speak to defendant before he fired. Had examined his straw hat and found a hole in it; did not notice the hole in the morning.

John Ash said he was a Doctor of Medicine, and a member of the Royal College of Surgeons; recollected the last witness coming to see him two or three weeks since about 11 a. m., and to ask about some bruises he had received. Finerty had a wound on the head caused by some blunt instrument; the whole thickness of the skin being cut through for about an inch long. There were also several bruises about his right thigh.

To Mr. Robertson.—The wound on the head was triangular; with the base towards the forehead; the skin was split through, and there was swelling round the wound, which he would say was recent, probably inflicted within about an hour. From the appearance of the wound it could not have been inflicted more than two hours previous to his examining it. The bruises on the thigh would have been inflicted about the same time; the skin was not broken at all; the bruises were not clearly defined; there was not much discoloration; would say there were three or four distinct bruises extending over the outer and front part of the thigh, and might have been inflicted during a scuffle on the ground.

Michael Finerty, cross-examined by Mr. Robertson, said when he first saw Houlihan he was about 9 or 10 feet away from him; the horses were walking easily; Houlihan was just in the act of firing at the time witness first saw him; could not swear which hand he held the pistol in; he held the stick produced in his right hand. When he first saw Houlihan, witness was half turned towards him, but when he saw him about to fire, he turned round towards the horses; heard the report of the pistol; the horses got a little excited and a second shot was fired; did not see Houlihan fire. The second shot was fired immediately after the first; the horses were on the run from the first shot; let them go, and jumped off the wagon whilst they were running; looked round to see where Houlihan was, and saw him within 6 to 9 feet from him, he was walking towards witness but had not time to walk far because witness jumped towards him; the horses had run about more or less, say 25 steps, before witness jumped off the wagon. Could not tell with which hand Houlihan struck him as he (witness) rushed at him; did not know at the time that the shot struck his hat; the hat had no hole in it when he went out in the morning. After having been to town went back to the place where the shooting took place; saw the hat on the ground; officer Lindsay was with him then; could not say whether he or the officer took up the hat first; noticed the hole in the hat; could not say how he was wearing the hat on that day; never noticed which way he puts his hat on. The pistol at the time he picked it up was ready to fire; could not swear which hand he knocked the pistol from; Houlihan was at the time lying on the ground on his back. After witness struck the pistol from his (defendant's) hand and when he (witness) was about to strike him with a stick he (witness) slipped and defendant sprang up and bit him on the shoulder. Have known the defendant for a long while; they worked together for five or six weeks last winter and had lived together; had never been in partnership with the defendant and never had a quarrel with him.

Re-examined.—Mr. Mills had laid down an information against the defendant for taking cord wood from his property, and had never spoken to him since.

To the Court: Saw Dr. Ash the same day he saw the row probably two or three hours after.

Officer Lindsay being sworn said that on the 21st of June Mr. Finerty in company with Mr. Drake called at the Police Barracks; Mr. Drake handed witness the pistol produced and a warrant for the arrest of the defendant; witness then went to execute the warrant and see where the fight occurred; met Dr. Matthews and, in consequence of what he said, did not execute the warrant. Went out to where he thought the row took place; the prosecutor was with witness. About 200 yards in the wood saw the straw hat now produced, lying in the road; picked up the hat and walked back to where prosecutor alleged he saw defendant. While standing there the prosecutor called witness attention to a hole in the hat. He saw four men further on there was a coat lying on the road; and prosecutor found the stick produced this side of Fitzallan's house off the road and inside the fence; prosecutor found the stick; there was traces of blood in several places on the stick. Noticed that Finerty's head was cut when he came to the Barracks and also saw spots of blood on portions of his clothing. On the way to town stopped at Houlihan's house; saw the defendant lying in bed and he appeared to be in a precarious condition at the time. He wanted witness to look at the wounds inflicted upon him; and when they removed the cloth from his head saw several cuts on his head, and also saw several wounds and bruises on his body, both his arms were badly bruised; he stated that on that morning the prosecutor had beaten him in the bush with a stick of cord wood; witness asked him where the stick of cord wood was, and he said there were several sticks around there; the defendant also said that the prosecutor had used a knife on him, and was very particular in calling witness attention to a cut on his head and asked witness whether he did not think it had been done with a knife. Witness told him that his story was altogether different to Finerty's who had laid an information against him charging him with attempting to shoot him. The defendant said that after the prosecutor had struck him on the head, the legs and arms, that he had drawn a pistol and one chamber went off; he did not say he fired it, but impressed witness with the belief that the pistol had gone off in the struggle.

The Court adjourned till 11 a. m. on Monday, bail being allowed in the personal sum of $3000 and two sureties in the sum of $1,500 each, or four sureties in the sum of $750.

THE FISHERIES AWARD.

The Last Fight Over Paying the Indemnity.

THE MONEY APPROPRIATED.

[New York Tribune Dispatch.]

WASHINGTON, June 19th.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. Atkins, in making the report from the Conference Committee on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, said that he did not sign it simply because he could not approve the last section of the Bill making an appropriation for the Fisheries award. While there were other features of the Bill which he did not approve, yet on the whole he could agree to anything else. The Bill as it passed the House, he said, appropriated $17,590,186; the Senate amendments added $4,484,914, making $22,075,100; of this amount $1,000,000 was for deficiencies.

Mr. Hewitt said that he was very sorry that the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations had refused to sign this report, and especially that his refusal was based on the reasons given.

The sum appropriated for paying the Halifax award was large; it was larger than all the saving the House had been able to make by its days and nights of labor. But, said he, there are things that are larger than millions of dollars, and among them is a nation's honor. Mr. Hewitt then briefly reviewed the history of the Treaty of Washington, the Geneva award and its payment. He said he was glad that he had signed the report; he would rather humiliate himself in any way than go back to the people refusing to pay this award on technicalities which the people would not and could not understand.

Mr. Robbins, of North Carolina, said he agreed with Mr. Hewitt, and expected to vote for this Bill, but he would like to ask why he did not begin at home when he was standing up for the honor of the nation.

General Butler was then given ten minutes in which to make a speech against the payment of the Fisheries award. His argument was based on the lack of benefits received under the treaty.

Mr. Hade followed with an eloquent speech in favor of the payment of the Halifax award, ending by the assertion that it was better to pay this money in a manly, straightforward way, than to leave the question open for future negotiation. It was in some sense the price of peace, and if a war had occurred between the United States and Great Britain the cost of it would have made this five and a half millions dwindle into insignificance.

The great speech of the debate was made by General Garfield. He hoped that the House would put out of mind all technicalities, and all questions of money, and think that here to-night, within twenty minutes, they were to close the diplomacy of the war. England had folded her arms and refused to lend us a dollar of money. France had seized upon a sister Republic. Then diplomacy stepped in, and first it threw France upon its out-gemmed Napoleon. Then a great difficulty with England occurred, and the Treaty of Commerce seemed at one time ready to involve us in a war. Finally all our difficulties with that nation were submitted to arbitration. We have carried every point of our diplomacy except the last. "Why," he exclaimed, "gamblers pay their gambling debts, I am told, and shall not a proud nation keep its engagements? I should be ashamed if we did not put this money in the hands of the President, but haggled over it and allowed the honor of the nation to be tarnished."

The debate was closed by a speech of five minutes in length, made by Mr. S. S. Cox, which was almost devoid of point. Several attempts were made to secure the yeas and nays on the question of agreeing to the report of the Committee of Conference, but they were unsuccessful and it was adopted.
